Large
To Our Friends and Customers.

We regret to announce to our friends and customers that on the morning of Feb. 4th, 1900, our stock of Clothing, Hats and Furnishings was almost entirely destroyed by fire and water, and our building badly damaged, which will unavoidably cause a suspension of our business for a short time.

Contracts have been made and the workmen are rebuilding our store, which will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible, and we hope to be able to reopen on or about April 1st, at our old stand, with an entire new and beautiful stock of Clothing and Gents' Furnishings.

All the stock saved from the fire has been sold to Mr. Jacob Goldsmith of Danville, Va., and Mr. J. E. Rognar, of Raleigh, N. C. We feel grateful to all our friends and customers for their very liberal patronage in the past, and hope by fair dealing and a strict attention to business to merit a continuance of same.

We would thank all parties indebted to us to call and settle the same, as we are anxious to balance our books. Also request all parties having accounts against us to present same. Our office is presently located at the south Davis street, two (2) doors north of C. P. Vantory's shoe store, in the McDoo House building.

Very Respectfully,
C. M. VANSTORY & CO.

True Love Never Runs
Smooth So the Old Saying Goes. It Was Demonstrated Saturday.

High Point, Feb. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Tate, of Charlotte, spent Sunday in this city visiting the family of Mrs. Tate's father.

Charles J. Field came up from Charlotte Saturday night and remained over Sunday.

The new electric chandeliers at the Methodist church were in use last night for the first time. They are pretty and throw out good light and the ladies aid society of the church is to be complimented in securing them.

While operating a jointer at the Eagle Furniture Company's, Eugene Hlat, an employee, got his left hand mangled so badly that amputation was necessary. He is getting along nicely. Hugh W. Lewis and A. K. Venable were here yesterday on a pleasant mission.

An interesting trial took place here Saturday in which a fair damsel and a gallant youth were the principal actors. The young people have been lovers for quite a while. The father of the girl is a farmer and lives a few miles from this place. He objected to the young man paying attention to his daughter and told him so, but the wife took sides with the young man and invited him to come. This he did. The husband then indicted the young man for trespass. A warrant was served on the youth and the wife of the man who swore out the warrant went on the young man's bond.

MR. BUTLER DISAPPOINTED

At the Date for Democratic National Convention.

BELIEVES THERE WILL BE FUSION
He Wanted Democratic and Populist Conventions Held at the Same Time—Other News.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Senator Butler, who has just returned from the meeting of the populist national committee at Lincoln, Nebraska, is said to be much disappointed at the result of the democratic national convention in determining to hold their convention in July. He was hopeful that the democratic convention might be held at the same time as the populist convention, and that both conventions might unite on the same candidate for vice-president. He is still of the opinion that the democratic national convention will select the populist nominee for vice-president. This opinion is the basis of his disappointment.

At the conclusion of routine business Mr. Penrose, of Pennsylvania, called attention to the proceedings yesterday with reference to the seating of M. S. Quay of Pennsylvania, and said that he did not desire to proceed with the case today. "I desire to notify the senate," he said, "that on Monday I will call up the resolution, and if no member representing the populist party of the election committee is ready to speak the minority will proceed with the debate."

Consideration of the Hawaiian government bill was resumed, the pending question being on the amendment of Mr. Platt of Connecticut, providing that the president should appoint the chief justice of the supreme court and the governor of the territory should appoint the other judges of the court.

In a voluble speech Mr. Tillman of South Carolina attacked the bill as reported to the senate, and in passing made a personal arraignment of Senator Morgan for alleged lack of courage.

The oligarchy which exists in Hawaii, declared Mr. Tillman, "and this bill perpetuates it, powerful and unscrupulous. It is an oligarchy greater than ever existed outside of Russia."

"I sympathize with the senator from Connecticut in his effort to secure a properly appointed judiciary for the islands—a judiciary not controlled by the oligarchy which now has its grip on the islands."

Referring to an incident which occurred the other day, in which Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, declined to yield to Mr. Tillman to reply to a statement made by Mr. Wolcott of Colorado, concerning the suppressed vote of South Carolina, Mr. Tillman said:

"I have felt indignation at the treatment I received from the senator (Mr. Morgan). Never in my experience in the senate have I been treated so discourteously by any member of the senate."

Mr. Morgan endeavored to interrupt Mr. Tillman, but the latter waved him aside, saying: "I decline to yield to the senator. He has put himself outside the pale of courtesy and consideration so far as I am concerned." He then explained the circumstances of Mr. Morgan's refusal to permit him to reply to Mr. Wolcott.

"When I arose to explain the situation in South Carolina as it was presented by the senator from Colorado," said Mr. Tillman, "the senator from Alabama said: 'No, I cannot permit you to speak now. I'll leave you to fight it out some other time.'"

"It was the first time in my experience that I had ever been refused a hearing in like circumstances. No republican would have denied me the privilege, because there is no man on that side of the chamber so lacking in courtesy and decency."

OBJECTED TO A BATH.
A Prisoner Escapes from the Microbe Incubator.

Last night a water pipe on the top floor of the jail broke and let water down upon the prisoners in the cell below. The prisoners objected to a bath on general principles, and especially to a cold one in jail in the middle of a cold night. Their cries of fire and other noisy protests brought the guard and jailer to the scene. The jailer entered the cell to scold the men over a view to changing them to another cell, as the water had covered the floor. While the jailer was inside the guard was left with instructions to close the outside door. Instead of closing the door the guard stood in the doorway. During the confusion and darkness one Clyde Sellers by name, a medium sized colored youth, imbued with a great dislike for cold water under such conditions and also moved by a yearning for liberty, slipped by the guard who did not see him and ran to the street.

Out into the cold, chilly, frigid, still, silent starlit night Mr. Sellers took a sneak, where, whence or whether is not known. Suffice it to say: Alas! he is gone! Incidentally it was well to remark that Sellers was spending his time in the microbe incubator about something concerning of a horse stealing.

THE SITUATION UNCHANGED

General Cronje Said to be Completely Encircled

BRITISH EXTENDING TRENCHES
Boer Ammunition Wagons Blown Up—Five Hundred of General Cronje's Men Captured.

London, Feb. 26.—The war office has given out no further official news from General Roberts at noon today. Special dispatches, however, showed that forces fighting was proceeding around General Cronje's laager. Reinforcements for Cronje made a fresh attempt to succor the beleaguered army, but failed. This news was contained in an undated dispatch and may have reference to the affair of Friday or Saturday. It is said in a Paardeburg Sunday evening report of the election of the Boer army, that Boers and Yorkshires have repulsed a Boer attack, inflicting heavy loss. General French, up to date, has captured over five hundred prisoners from Cronje's camp and two hundred other prisoners have already arrived at Cape Town. Paardeburg, Sunday, (delayed)—The situation is unchanged. General Cronje is completely encircled now with British troops and the engineers are constantly extending the trenches near or to the laager. The artillery fire is incessant and becomes deadlier every hour.

A Saturday dispatch, which was delayed, says a war balloon located a group of Boer ammunition wagons today in the bed of Modder river. The position was described to the artillery and a storm of shells were showered from several batteries that concentrated their fire upon it. Several wagons were blown up and a number of Boers were killed. A determined attack was made yesterday upon the Yorkshires, but they hugged the trenches and showered such a hot fire that the Boers retired with heavy loss.

Paardeburg, Sunday—A British cavalry division went twelve miles east yesterday and scattered and destroyed several parties of Boers who were trying to escape. Intermittent firing of British guns through the night while the engineers were building trenches toward the Boer position around the laager.

THINGS SAID BY THE WAY.
Why Towns Boys Do Not Achieve Greater Success in Life.

To the Editor of the Telegram:
In Saturday's issue appeared an article, "Owl's Den," which largely in my opinion opened up a wide field for thought. The writer states facts without much comment and shows his wonderful astuteness, when calling attention to facts which found existence right here in Greensboro and then leaving the reader to determine for himself the causes leading up to them.

He states a fact which cannot be controverted, "that nearly all the successful business men were raised in the country. Why is this invariably the rule in all cities and towns. Are not our towns boys bright and promising? Are not their advantages far better than the country boy? Are not many of them sons of those successful men, who came from the country? And why should not these boys make useful and successful men like their country fathers?"

These are the inquiries uppermost in our minds, and why not bring the facts out clearly and show the true cause for the existing conditions.

Before I go into the causes directly attributable to the failure of our town boys in business, I desire to say a word in defense of town mothers in general. I speak from experience and I believe our successful country fathers and mothers will agree with me when I say that our town boys are better cared for, receive more attention and have far greater advantages than the country boy. Our facilities for educating him are better—our churches are more numerous. The mothers have more time to devote to his moral and religious training—yet his life is a failure. Some of the brightest minds that ever graced the halls of our state institutions of learning were reared in our cities and towns—some even in Greensboro—who wrecked their lives. Can you lay the fault at their parents' door? God forbid! Did not that devoted and loving mother mark his every step until he achieved greatness and distinction at college? Then why should her tender christian influences be at fault in the further course of his life? No, we must look elsewhere for the causes that lead to his failure in life. No mother ever put a stumbling block in the pathway of her boy. There is not a mother in Greensboro who ever voted or signed her name to a license to sell liquor in an open barroom. The barrooms of the past were the machines of destruction that slew our boys. This fact cannot be denied. They were places of great attraction, where General, Colonel and Major so and so frequented and said many witty and smarting things in their social glances. Our boy too, found many admiring friends here, ever ready to compliment him on his distinction at college.

Then again, there is no harm in a social glass or a little game at cards. General and Colonel and Major So and So are big men around town and they always take a drink when they want it and so it is permissible in our boy. It is not long now before our boy comes in late at night. The

THE SOUTH CAROLINIAN GIVES SENATOR MORGAN A JAB.

He Strongly Attacks the Bill to Provide a Territorial Government for the Islands of Hawaii.

Washington, Feb. 24.—When the senate convened today Mr. Hale, of Maine, reported the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill and gave notice that at an early date next week he would call the bill up for consideration.

At the conclusion of routine business Mr. Penrose, of Pennsylvania, called attention to the proceedings yesterday with reference to the seating of M. S. BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

There is a slight mad dog scare in the eastern part of town.

The jury in the Pretzfelder case with Z. V. Taylor assigned, gave the assigned a verdict for $2,500.

The salary of Letter Carrier Stewart of this city, has been raised by the government from $600 to $850 per annum.

Two hundred and seven pair men's and women's shoes, slightly shopworn, are advertised to be sold at and below cost by Thacker & Brockmann.

The treasurer of Centenary church, Mr. L. M. Clymer, would be glad to receive a call from those who recently made subscriptions to the fund for the payment of the small indebtedness on the church property.

Ladies clean your kid gloves with Labelle glove cleaner. It is not a liquid, leaves no odor and can be used while the glove is on the hand. For sale only by Grissom & Fordham, druggists.

And now there are more small jobs for the plumbers. Water pipes have been freezing again and when this occurs there is always some bursting. It's an ill wind (though blighting cold) that blows nobody any good.

Pythian district meeting at Winston-Salem Friday night. Members of the local lodges are invited and a large attendance is desired at Greensboro Lodge No. 80 tonight to take steps to have the lodge properly represented.

T. J. McAdoo will sing at the concert at the academy of music, Monday, March 5th, benefit St. Andrews church. Mr. McAdoo has a tenor voice of great resonance, and is a pupil of Prof. Brown, of this city, and Carl Duffy, of New York.

One of the shaft bolts on A. D. Jones' buggy dropped out this morning coming down Walker avenue, causing the horse to make a sudden plunge, turning the buggy over. Mrs. Jones was in the buggy with her husband, and both were slightly injured. The greatest damage was to the buggy, Mr. Jones says.

Ladies, we want to call your attention to this fact. We are selling tailor made suits for less than the cost material and making. You know we can't afford this long. We are selling some of these suits nearly every day, and we think it would pay you to examine them before it is too late. See prices in our ad on first page of the Record.

J. M. Hendrix, & Co.

A Flammeth Lumber Transaction.

Mr. R. W. Brooks sells lumber by the wholesale, but he has just received an order which breaks his record. The order is for two hundred and fifty car loads of lumber for export. The only thing that troubles him is where to get it.

We have about one hundred pairs of ladies' shoes, very slightly shopworn, to sell at cost and some of them below cost. There are about a dozen different styles and shapes of them, light, medium and heavy, both button and laced. Thacker & Brockmann.

A DEAD MAN WHO ESCAPED.

Officer Could Not Find Him Though Informant Was Positive.

Sunday morning a negro boy brought the news to police headquarters that there was a dead man lying on the ground in the eastern part of the town. His story was that he and a companion saw a man on the ground on the edge of a branch, near a culvert, as they were going home about twelve o'clock Saturday night, and that he had just come by the same place and had seen the body under the culvert. The officer repaired to the scene, but the dead man had walked off and was nowhere to be seen. The boy then confessed that he might have been mistaken about seeing him under the culvert that morning, but insisted that there could be no mistake about the night before. As the boys were too scared to investigate what they saw Saturday night, it is entirely possible that they saw nothing or a shadow at most.

An old time country doctor once upon a time was riding alone and at nightfall along a lonely road near a country church and graveyard. Among the spectral tombstones he noticed a white object rise out of the ground and then disappear into the earth again. The first thing he did was to whip up his horse, but did not go far before his nerve came to him again, and he dismounted tied his horse, and went back to the grave yard. As he retraced his steps, he plainly saw at intervals the same white object loom up out of the ground and disappear as before. When he reached the place he found a newly made grave into which a sheep had fallen, and from which it had been trying to escape, but would fall back with every attempt. This would have made a fine ghost story if the wise doctor had not investigated. Ghosts and dead men never hurt any body, and it is safe to investigate them when you come across either.

Complimentary Card Party.

Judge and Mrs. W. P. Bynum, Jr., gave a euchre party at their home on Arlington street, Saturday evening, complimentary to Mrs. Smith, of Philadelphia, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Brown. Mrs. Kase received the lady's prize, a pair of silver embroidered scissors, and Gen. Glenn the gentleman's prize, a silver-handled rolling blotter. After cards, refreshments were served.

The guests were Col. and Mrs. Kase, Gen. and Mrs. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle, Miss Horry, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. Smith, of Philadelphia.

$12.50 for a house full of amusement and pleasures. You should hear this new musical machine. Nothing to equal it, 112 east Market street.

THEY KNOW GREENSBORO.

The Prowler Writes of Things He Saw and Heard in Atlanta.

To The Telegram:

I boarded the fast mail on the Southern Railway here the other night armed with a round trip ticket to Atlanta. I got around trip ticket so I would be sure of having a chance to get back home. I left Greensboro at 7:10 p.m., and on stepping from the train under the old smutty shed in Atlanta I looked at my watch and the hands pointed to 8:10, a. m. At that hour it is good, broad daylight in Greensboro, but it was more than half an hour before the first gray streak of dawn was visible in Atlanta, and I told a fellow I believed the train had galloped nearly an hour on the sun. I figured it out and explained how it was and he said I was right. If you don't like it, figure on it for yourself. I did it for the Atlanta man, not you. I know that people in Greensboro are too smart to bite at that.

I wandered about the streets awhile and presently a fellow walked up behind me while perusing a city directory, and took charge of me. No, it was not a policeman, but a good friend who had a warm fire and pretty soon a steaming hot breakfast. It was a cold chilly morning and a big, white frost covered the dead grass in the yards and on the brick sidewalks as dangerous as banana skins. Before noon, however, the bright sun had warmed up things and by the afternoon the weather was like balm. Spring and Frank Stanton worked off some stuff about the bluebirds, which was published in the Constitution the next morning.

And this makes me think that while in Atlanta two days I saw all the kinds of weather one usually sees in this country except hot summer time. Friday was cold and frosty, then mild and warm. Saturday morning there was a warm rain falling which later turned into a cold rain and began to freeze. By eleven o'clock a snow-storm was raging and at two, p.m., the clouds were breaking away and the wind blowing a gale, the mercury rapidly falling until the air was bitter.

So, Atlanta is a daisy for weather as well as other things. Bryan spoke there Friday night and the Constitution printed pictures of his reception tendered him. The people of Atlanta got more about Bryan's visit through the papers than they could see from the demonstration tendered him. He spoke in the assembly hall of the house of representatives and the Constitution said about a thousand people were turned away for lack of room. All the opera houses were running shows and seats were at a premium, so great was the demand. There are people in Atlanta eager for all kinds of attractions.

Atlanta contains many Tar Heels, and they are all proud of their native state. I was introduced to people in almost every line of business in Atlanta, and when I said I was from Greensboro, they always smiled and said: "I know Greensboro; it's coming town," or "Oh, yes, you have a fine town, too," or "You ought to be proud of your city, it's the best in the state."

Many, many times I was greeted by these and similar declarations, till I almost imagined myself whirling through Greensboro on electric cars, and taking a spin by the same conveyance out to the Battle Ground.

Coming home I fell in with a traveler from California, who had just passed through Mexico, Arizona, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and as we were at breakfast in the Southern's magnificent dining car we entered North Carolina. I called his attention to the fact and he watched every landscape from there until I got off at Greensboro. I shook hands with him and left him gazing in admiration at the new depot. Just before reaching the depot he said North Carolina pleased him more than any country he had seen since leaving the Pacific slope, where he lives, and to which he is naturally partial.

The Prowler.

More Recruits.

Ehrle H. Eubanks, of Chapel Hill, N. C.; John P. Holden, of Graham; Claude R. Pool, of La Grange, and William P. Vickers, of Durham, left on the noon train today for service in the United States army in Porto Rico.

The Town Clock (on a Strike?).

At 10:40 Saturday night the town clock ceased to perform its functions. The question arises whether its machinery was rattled into this quiescent state by the high winds which blew or it stopped in amaze at the sudden fall of the mercury Saturday night.

Continued In Our Next

In view of the unusual demand for children's clothing and in consideration of violent weather of Saturday, Rankin, Chisholm, Stroud & Rees have decided to continue the special sale on knee pants today and tomorrow. This firm is making room for spring goods. If you need a suit for the boy, now is the time to get it.

To secure the original witch hazel salve, ask for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, well known as a certain cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of worthless counterfeits. They are dangerous. Howard Gardner.

A Model Store.

If you want to see a model store, neat as a pin, everything in its place, everything tasteful and artistic, look into the new book and stationery store of S. A. Kerr on East Market street just in front of the Southern Loan & Trust Co. building. Mr. Kerr used to handle groceries like an artist and Mr. W. L. Wharton used to handle groceries for him in his predecessor, for he is maintaining his good record. A man whose artist's instinct was evoked in the handling will find a congenial field for his genius in the world of books and pictures. Continued success to Mr. Kerr.

An Unwelcome Visitor

Mr. J. C. Andrews, who resides on Whitlington street, had a very unwelcome visitor Friday night. It was a thief who went to his smokehouse and carried off about four bushels of potatoes and all the eggs he could find. There has been a great deal of stealing going on in this vicinity of late and the people are better get their guns ready for action.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."
